THE EVENT

Fuel Tides is the essential European conference and exhibition focused on the safe adoption of alternative marine fuels

As shipping races towards decarbonisation, new fuels bring new risks. Our industry cannot wait for regulation to catch up; the industry must take decisive action, and this action starts at Fuel Tides

WHY THIS EVENT MATTERS

The Global transition to cleaner, less polluting fuels is accelerating as industries and governments seek to reduce greenhouse gas emissions

Driven by the International Maritime Organization's ambition to achieve net-zero shipping by 2050, the maritime industry is investing heavily in alternative fuels

Yet this rapid transition has outpaced regulatory development. There is limited guidance on the safe handling, bunkering, and emergency response related to marine alternative fuels (MAF)

FUEL TIDES MARKS THE LAUNCH OF EUROPEAN COLLABORATION

Bringing together stakeholders from across Europe and the international community, Fuel Tides will facilitate sharing, debating, and developing how we manage the risks of alternative fuels – in operation, in port, in bunkering, and in emergency response
